Language of Instruction	Turkish
Course Type	Compulsory
Course Level	Bachelor Degree
Objective	The aim of the course is to teach the general principles of enforcement and bankruptcy law and regulations regarding compulsory enforcement. In this context, teaching the concepts and institutions related to Enforcement and Bankruptcy law and the relationships between these concepts and institutions; The student should be aware of the legal regulations in this field, the decisions of the judicial bodies, their development and scientific evaluations regarding them; Knowing the problems encountered in legal practice and producing solutions to them are among the objectives of the course.
Content	This course examines specific enforcement procedures and introduces bankruptcy law. The first part is dedicated to the enforcement of judgments (ilâmlı icra) and the foreclosure of pledges, covering both movable and immovable property. Provisional remedies, particularly the precautionary attachment (ihtiyati haciz), are also studied. The second part of the course focuses on bankruptcy law. Following a general introduction, it covers the different methods of initiating bankruptcy (direct or with prior prosecution), the bankruptcy organs, and its legal consequences for both the debtor and the creditors. The process of bankruptcy liquidation, including the realization of assets and the distribution of proceeds, is analyzed in detail. The course concludes with the study of specific actions such as the action for annulment of dispositions (avoidance action, tasarrufun iptali davası). The objective is to enable students to master these complex procedures based on a critical analysis of legislation, case law, and doctrine. For details on the topics, see the subject headings.
