Objective	Digital transformation can be defined as the use of technology in all processes to keep pace with digital time. Digitalization is evolving towards a new phase where not only individuals, institutions, but also objects and machines are linked. Digital processes increase competition, make prices transparent, take power to the customer and make online reputation important; brands are forced to keep up with the rapid transformation with digital. The concept that is new in the lives of brands and individuals, is defined as “being connected”. One benefit of keeping the individual connected with their brands and content from many devices is the ability to collect and use data. While continuing to convey information about products and services to users who follow or interact with the brand through all digital communication channels, especially social media tools, on the other hand, listening to all the conversations about the brand in all digital channels, joining the brand when necessary, products and services will be taken from these conversations. The aim of this course is to enable students to evaluate the digital data listed above as well as their creative and communication skills.
