Content

Course Code	Course Name	Semester	Theory	Practice	Lab	Credit	ECTS
HİF401	VIS International Commercial Arbitration Moot	7	2	0	0	2	1

Prerequisites
Admission Requirements

Language of Instruction	English
Course Type	Elective
Course Level	Bachelor Degree
Objective	Understanding the practical functioning of the international dispute settlement mechanisms
Content	The course will give an overview on the most current theory and practices in respect of international dispute resolution. A wide range of available dispute resolution processes (including litigation, arbitration, negotiation and mediation) will be reviewed in a cross-border context. The structure, elements and contexts of disputes and methods of creating value in disputes will be discussed. Selected topics will include: litigation processes in civil law and common law jurisdictions, extraterritoriality of laws, economy and efficiency of dispute resolution methods, and practical issues in managing complex international litigations. In order to improve the understanding of the audience, real life examples of complex international litigations and arbitrations will be studied.
References	Handouts will be distributed.

Theory Topics

Week	Weekly Contents